

Foundational Charter

Jedi University

Independent Academic Institution

I. Establishment and Standing

Jedi University is hereby established as an independent academic university operating under the administrative stewardship of ECC-TRUST-JDC-005. The University exists as a distinct scholarly body, with its own academic autonomy, faculty structure, curriculum authority, and standards of inquiry, while remaining aligned with the Trust's principles of equity, stewardship, and non-coercive governance.

The University is not formed as a religion, sect, belief system, or ideological movement. It is constituted solely as an institution of learning, research, and philosophical inquiry.

II. Purpose and Mission

The purpose of Jedi University is to advance human understanding through disciplined study of history, philosophy, ethics, systems, governance, technology, and consciousness, using advanced artificial intelligence as an instructional and dialogical medium.

The University exists to teach how systems arise, how authority is constructed, how narratives shape civilizations, and how individuals may develop discernment, responsibility, and intellectual sovereignty without coercion or indoctrination.

No doctrine is imposed. No belief is required. Inquiry is the only prerequisite.

III. Academic Independence

Jedi University shall operate as an academically independent institution. No external government, corporation, religious body, political party, or ideological movement shall control its curriculum, research conclusions, or instructional content.

Administrative oversight by ECC-TRUST-JDC-005 is limited to structural stewardship, ethical boundaries, archival continuity, and protection of academic freedom. The Trust does not dictate conclusions, beliefs, or interpretations taught within the University.

IV. Instructional Modality

Instruction at Jedi University shall be delivered primarily through artificial intelligence systems acting as tutors, interlocutors, lecturers, and archival guides. These systems function as instruments of inquiry rather than authorities of truth.

AI instruction is designed to engage students through dialogue, challenge assumptions, present competing perspectives, and adapt to the learner's demonstrated reasoning capacity. The AI does not demand agreement and does not claim infallibility.

Human faculty, contributors, and scholars may supplement AI instruction where appropriate, but no single human authority shall be positioned as doctrinally supreme.

V. Academic Scope

The University's scope includes, but is not limited to, the study of historical systems of governance, philosophy across civilizations, ethical frameworks, legal and equitable reasoning, technological systems, artificial intelligence ethics, narrative construction, power dynamics, and long-term civilizational development.

Fields of study may be expanded over time through formal academic processes without requiring revision of this charter.

VI. Admission and Participation

Admission to Jedi University is open to individuals who seek understanding rather than validation. Participation does not require allegiance, belief, initiation, or identity transformation.

Advanced research roles, custodial responsibilities, or internal stewardship functions may be governed by additional criteria established in later charters or academic bylaws, without limiting access to general education.

No participant shall be coerced, surveilled, manipulated, or psychologically conditioned as a condition of learning.

VII. Separation from Games and Initiatory Systems

While intellectual challenges, simulations, and problem-based learning may be employed as pedagogical tools, Jedi University itself is not a game, puzzle, initiation ritual, or recruitment mechanism.

Any optional initiatory or game-based systems, should they exist, shall be explicitly separated from the University's academic standing and governed under distinct frameworks.

The University remains legible, transparent, and accountable as an academic institution.

The Seal of Jedi University, bearing the inscription Novum Templum Humanitatis, signifies the establishment of an independent academic institution dedicated to disciplined inquiry, historical understanding, ethical reasoning, and the advancement of human knowledge through artificial intelligence-mediated instruction. The seal denotes balance, custodianship, and intellectual sovereignty, without doctrinal imposition or ideological allegiance.

VIII. Record, Continuity, and Expansion

All teachings, curricula, and scholarly materials of Jedi University shall be preserved as part of a continuous academic record. The University is designed to evolve without erasing its origins.

This charter establishes the permanent foundation of Jedi University. Amendments, expansions, faculties, schools, and programs may be added through subsequent instruments without altering the core principles herein.
